DAILY KENTUCKIAN

"GREATER HOPKINS-VILLE WANTS YOU."

Established 1879 Vol. XL--Daily Vol. 1. No. 36

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY, SATURDAY, APRIL 20, 1918.

Price 3 Cents

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Call 449 if you fail to get the Kentuckian promptly. And if you have a news item, phone it to the same number.

We have to admit that sleepy old Howling Green put one over on us in getting Charlie Chaplin.

An official dispatch says for every allied airplane lost, three German planes have been brought down.

Former Attorney General M. M. Logan, head of the Revenue Commission of the State, spent last night at Cerulean Springs.

Private Thomas F. Atchison, headquarters company of the Thirty-seventh United States Infantry, was killed Tuesday by a sniper's bullet from the Mexican side of the river while on patrol duty near Laredo, Texas.

You can't keep Kentucky from being to the front. While Ollie James is laid up in a Baltimore Hospital, Crippa Beckham is making himself a spokesman for the President in the Senate, trying to hurry up things.

Mrs. Selma W. Worley, wife of the commander of the naval collier Cyclops, has not given up hope. She says she is confident the ship is adrift at sea, with her engines disabled or short of coal.

The Kentuckian with war news up to 1 a. m. and with the local news field covered will reach all parts of Christian and adjoining counties by noon or soon afterwards. You can have it mailed to you for less than one cent a day.

The Kentuckian compiled a detailed report of the Liberty Bond drive, by precincts, within a few hours after it closed and the people had the news on their doorsteps the next morning. It shows the same enterprise this morning in reporting the Church-Hill Grange sale a day ahead of all other papers.

(By International News Service.)

HOSPITAL SELLS FINE CATTLE

OTHER GROWERS OF BEEF CAT-TLE PULL DOWN FANCY
PRICES.

The Western Kentucky State Hospital must be succeeding along one line if no other. Recently Messrs. Wilson and Broadbent bought from this institution at one time 25 head of nice fat cattle ready for the market at the price of 11 1/2¢ per pound. This shows that a state institution can produce and is producing, a high grade product and should add materially to the income of that institution as well as attest the splendid management of same.

Messrs. Wilson and Broadbent have also purchased some fine cattle from other parties recently. One lot of 26 fine Bluegrass cattle were bought from Jim Henratty at 12¢ per pound and 50 head of stock cattle from Lee Watkins of near Gracely at a fancy price which is not given out.

These are only a few of the many nice cattle sales made in this county during the last few weeks.

JUGGERNAUT OF THE HUNS CLOGGED WITH THE BLOOD OF BOCHES HAS STOPPED FOR THE TIME BEING ON THE FLANDERS FIELD.

(By International News Service.)

London, April 19.—Hindenburg's war machine in Flanders is stuck for the moment at least with its wheels clogged in German blood. The Allies are profiting from the lull permitting them to reorganize their forces, which have been battered by continuous drumming since April 9.

The last twenty-four hours have brought no change on the Flanders front. When the battle is renewed, probably soon, Mount Kammel will be the storm center, for with it stands or falls the whole British line on the Ypres front.

DRAFT MEN UP TO 40 YEARS

BILL TO THAT EFFECT SAID TO BE READY AND SURE TO PASS.

(By International News Service.)

Washington, April 19.—Members of the House Military Affairs Committee returned to the capital from the weekly conference with military authorities today. It is almost solidly convinced that the draft age must be extended from 21 to 40 years of age. In describing to the committee its confidential news from Pearly and Flanders the fighting fronts, the War Department officials laid stress on the necessity of more man power. Representative Kahn, the actual leader of the committee, declared on his return that a bill to extend the draft would surely be passed at this session. He said it would be proved by both Houses so that on June 5, when it is proposed to register all men who have become 21 that men up to 40 will also be summoned.

AWAY ON LEAVE AND ACTED IN SELF DEFENSE.

Andrew Anderson, the man shot by Private Harry Tappan at Lexington Wednesday died the next day and Tappan is in jail under a charge of murder. The Powell woman shot at the same time is believed to be on the road to recovery. The examining trial is set for April 26.

Tappan was beaten over the head, but his injuries are not serious. Tappan is a member of Co. A, 113th military police at Camp Shelby and in a letter received here yesterday he says he was away on leave. He also says he did the shooting in self defense while being beaten over the head. The woman has not been able to make a statement and there were no other witnesses.

Luther Tappan is with his brother and has employed a lawyer to defend him.

SEC'Y BAKER SEES WILSON

MAKES STARTLING RECOMMEN-DATIONS BASED UPON OB-SERVATION BOARD.

(By International News Service.)

Washington, April 19.—President Wilson today received from Secretary Baker his new plan for army expansion. Details said to represent a warning that a greatly increased fighting force should be immediately placed in training in the United States irrespective of our overseas transportation facilities. These recommendations are based upon observations made by Secretary Baker during his recent visit to France, England and Italy. They also represent the view of General Pershing and General Bliss, United States representatives on the inter allied war council. It is understood that steps will be taken to clear the way for the following legislation: 1st to authorize an appropriation for a military force of 5,000,000. Second, to raise the age limit from 31 to 40. Third, to increase in numerical strength the Marine Corps of 75,000. Fourth, to increase the cantonments. And Fifth, to automatically grant American citizenship to all aliens who are now enlisted in the American army.

The property is valued at $5,000,000. Unwillingness on the part of the company's directors to take orders for materials to be used against Germany is the principal cause of this action.

If these gentlemen fail to return in time for the Kentuckian to report their return they will report everything today in their own fanlike way, as only baseball fans can do.

KEPT HER AWAKE

The Terrible Pains in Back and Sides. Cardui Gave Relief.

Marksville, La.—Mrs. Alice Johnson, of this place, writes: "For one year I suffered with an awful misery in my back and sides. My left side was hurting me all the time. The misery was something awful.

I could not do anything, not even sleep at night. It kept me awake most of the night. I took different medicines, but nothing did me any good or relieved me until I took Cardui.

I was not able to do any of my work for one year and I got worse all the time, was confined to my bed off and on. I got so bad with my back that when I stooped down I was not able to straighten up again. I decided I would try Cardui.
By time I had taken the entire bottle I was feeling pretty good and could straighten up and my pains were nearly all gone.

I shall always praise Cardui. I continued taking it until I was strong and well. If you suffer from pains due to female complaints, Cardui may be just what you need. Thousands of women who once suffered in this way now praise Cardui for their present good health.

THE MAY AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

Mary Pickford, David Grayson,
Charles P. Steinmetz, H. C. Witwer, Holworthy Hall, and Corporal Holmes are some of the names that make the May American Magazine a top-notch-er. Holworthy Hall begins his new novel of love, adventure, and the war called "The man Nobody Knew." Charles P. Steinmetz, the great inventor and engineer, declares that the world belongs to the dissatisfied and he proves his point in his article. David Grayson, who everyone loves, expresses his opinion about the war and how, out in the country, he feels about it. There is an article about Mary Pickford that will give you some news about her;
and the real story of Corporal Holmes and how the war made a different man of him will stimulate and interest. H. C. Witwer has a funny story in this issue and Max Rosen, the youthful violinist who has been starting the country, tells how he graduated from the slums and reached the top of his profession. L. M.
Boomer the great hotel man, tells what hotel men know about human beings, and the things they like to eat and do.

There are many other things in this issue that make it worth while.
Stories by William Dudley Pelley and Alice Garland Steele, articles called
"What makes the tired business man Tired?" and "How I Cured Myself in a Dentist's Chair" and the interesting People and Family Money Department help to round out a fine number.

About His Relations.

Judge—"Now, sir, tell us about your marital relations—were they pleasant?" Blitback—"Pleasant enough, your honor. But they wanted to live on ma all the time"—Life.

HER TITIAN HAIR.

The matron of the hospital repeatedly told the nurses to be sure to dry as well as clean the instruments. "If you don't dry them thoroughly they will rust," she had said so often.

And the little girl, the star patient, they called her, who had been there so long, knew all the instructions, rules and regulations by heart, and especially this piece of advice and direction.

A new nurse entered the hospital not long ago. Her hair was of a gorgeous red. It was the envy of all.

"How did you ever get hair of such a wonderful color?" asked one of the nurses, maliciously.

"It's quite natural," the new nurse replied quietly.

But the little girl called out from her bed:

"I know how she got it. She washed it and didn't dry it well—like the instruments, and it rusted—it did!"—

PROBABLY NOT

"I am proud of my ancestry."
"I wonder if your ancestors could return the compliment."

Nothing New.

Camouflage beyond all doubt is an ancient stunt.
We have heard for years about "putting up a front."

Woman's Economy.

Mrs. Styles—Women are more economical than men.

Mr. Styles—I don't believe it.
"You often hear of a bride being married in the same gown that her mother was married in."

"That's true."
"But you never heard of a man being married in the clothes his father was married in."

Not So Altruistic.

"I'm working hard to get several of my friends on an investigating committee," announced Congressman Finchub.

"That shows good fellowship on your part. What is the committee going to investigate?"
"Me,"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Gone to Her Head.

Mrs. Eke—"They say she's crazy over shopping."
Mrs. Wye—"She is. Why, her poor husband complains that she pulls the bed clothes off him almost every night —thinks she's examining dress goods at a bargain rush."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Cause and Effect.

Flatbush—My next-door neighbor was taken sick last night.
Bensonhurst—Too bad.
"Yes, we telephoned for the doctor but he couldn't come."
"How is he today?"
"Oh, he's worse. The doctor came today!"

VERY RUDE TO HIM

Mrs. Henpeck—"Before we were married I used to sit on your knee."
Mr. Henpeck—"Now you sit all over me."

Mary's Little Shoes.

Mary had a little limp
And furrow in her brow.
She couldn't wear a number one
But tried it anyhow.

Depends on the Man.

"A public office does not necessarily make a man prominent."
"No," replied Senator Borghum,
"sometimes the man renders the office inconspicuous."

A Genuine Reform.

"In a spelling reform, would you eliminate all the silent letters?"
"I would all those found leading the double life."

Working and Thinking.
There is no less virtue, rather more,
in events, tasks, duties, obligations, than there is in books. Work itself has a singular power to unfold and develop our nature. The difference is not be-people, but between people who work without thinking and people who think while they work.—Henry Van Dyke.

The Shown.
A shown was a wind instrument of the oboe class but with a wider bell. It is a very old type of musical instrument, as it is spoken of by the Psalmist. The Romans used it freely. There were treble shown and bass shown, and the name gradually gave way to the sixteenth century to "shown" or "shown," eventually evolving to "shown."

JUSTICE RULES IN HONGKONG

Sphere of British Influence in China Has Been of Much Benefit to That Country.

There is much in the view which emphasizes the inequity of establishing spheres of influence in China by the easy process of taking away from that helpless country large slices of her territory; but the port of Hongkong is unique in this regard and is to be considered quite apart from China's unfortunate international contracts of recent years.

Hongkong is the natural outcome of an impossible situation, Eleanor F. Egan writes in the Saturday Evening Post. It is the big end of a tremendous wedge of influence, no doubt about that; but from the beginning its influence has been of the quickening and reinvigorating kind. It is a place set outside Chinese control, where Chinese themselves can engage in business and enjoy the safeguards of equitable law and strictly maintained order; and that its establishment has been of vastly more benefit to China than it has been to England is beyond question. Incidentally, the whole world has shared the benefits as freely as the world, without asking leave, may share the British privileges of London.

The affairs of the colony of Hongkong are administered by a governor assisted by two councils—one executive and the other legislative. There is a secretary for Chinese affairs, who has a seat in both councils, and the legislative council has never less than two Chinese members. The English common law forms the basis of the legal system and is modified by colonial ordinances dealing with purely local questions.

CORNERING THE MARKET

"You naughty kitten? What do you mean by taking all the food I bring in and driving your brothers and sisters away from it?"
"Nothin'. I'm just playin' 'pusey wants a corner.'"

VALUABLE LOAD OF HAY.

An incident that gives an idea of the enormous growth of Toronto since Sandford Fleming, the Scotchman who played so important a part in the developing of Canada, first set foot on its streets nearly seventy years ago, is told by Mr. Lawrence J. Burpee in "Sandford Fleming, Empire Builder."

Andrew Sanderson, a farmer in the township of York, took a load of hay one autumn to Toronto to sell in the open market. Finding no sale, and unwilling to take the load back with him over very heavy roads, he offered it to the proprietor of Elgin's hotel on Yonge street on very easy terms. The hotel keeper could ill spare the cash, and after some bargaining he offered Sanderson in payment for the hay the vacant lot on the northeast corner of King and Yonge streets, which Sanderson reluctantly accepted. That lot was sold not long ago for a million and a quarter dollars.

NATURAL SUGGESTION.

"Pop, tell me one thing."
"What it is, son?"
"Can they write quotations in pork with a pigpen?"

OLD SLOGAN BOBS UP.

"I don't see what he saw in her to marry."
"Don't you understand? She kept him out of war."

WOULDN'T WORK.

"Brown's plans are decidedly characteristic of the man."
"How so?"
"Why, they won't work."

HIS LIMITATIONS.

"Is Higgins doing his bit?"
"Yes. Every now and then he tries on a soldier's garment to let his wife see whether she is knitting it right."

PROFANE MAN IN NEW LIGHT

Mule Driver Renowned for "Cussing" Ability Also Able to Make Almost Perfect Prayer.

One time when Representative Elston of California was hunting up in the mountains of his native state, he encountered a mule driver, with his team stuck in the mud, who was the best two-fisted cussor that ever laid a lip to it. Cussing blue was nothing for him; he cussed all the colors of the rainbow, and did it harmoniously, too. Elston went on up the mountain wondering what a blackened person a man who would swear like that must be.

The following day a tree fell on a man in a nearby camp, and Elston went over to the hillside burial. No services had been arranged, not even a prayer. But when those in charge were about to lower into the grave the pine box in which the body reposed, and some one suggested that a few words be spoken, the cussing man stepped forward, removed his hat, and said:

"Lord, we are sending thee another soul. Thou knowest the burden it had to bear; be merciful."

That prayer stands today in Elston's opinion as one of the finest masterpieces of English it has been his privilege to hear.—Elisha Hanson, in Cartoons Magazine.

OBEDIENT

Mr. Mosquito—Funny seat you have there.

Mr. Roach—Yes. Wife and I had an argument and she told me to go sit on a tack.

NAME WILL BE REMEMBERED.

History will record the first enlisted man in the United States navy to lose his life in the present foreign operations as John I. Eopolucci, boatswain's mate, first class, a member of the armed guard on the Astec. This was the first United States merchant vessel carrying an armed guard to be sunk. The Astec went down on April 1, 1917, presumably torpedoed.

The night was dark, the sea rough and cold and the guard unable to sight the submarine. One of the boats after getting away from the doomed vessel fought for some hours in a heavy sea until sighted by a French patrol. The boat was in charge of Lieut. William F. Gresham, and he and all his men were saved, with the exception of the boatswain's mate. This man, Eopolucci, lost his life through his efforts to assist another boat in getting clear of the ship's side. Neither he nor those who helped him to launch the boat were saved. A native of Washington, Eopolucci entered the service in 1915 at Rosebank, N. Y., having already put in eight years in the navy.

GENUINE ADMIRATION.

"It's a pity that great orator can't speak German," remarked Broncho Bob.

"What makes you think so?"

"Well, the way he's laid us Crimson Gulchers out for our wickedness inspires confidence. We'd like to make up a purse and send him to Berlin to tell the kaiser exactly what we think of him."

PEACE PROMOTION.

"Remember, this war is for the sake of peace."

"I'm already beginning to feel the peaceful results in my own home," replied Mr. Cumrox, confidentially. "Nobody plays Wagnerian music any more."

NATURAL CONCLUSION.

"When the suspect the secret service men caught was stood up by his picture to identify him, he went into a violent rage."

"Well, wasn't it natural for any man in such circumstances to be beside himself?"

ADVANCE IS SCORED AGAIN

IN TOBACCO MARKET WHEN WEEKLY AVERAGE JUMPS NINETEEN CENTS.

The loose leaf tobacco market is strong and the weekly average shows an increase of 19 cents over the average last week. This advance may be due either to the preponderance of the better grades or a better ordered condition of the weed that was offered for sale. The average is still 16 cents below the record week of the season.

The sales to date are only 333,075 pounds below the total for this date a year ago. Another good week of stripping and delivering will probably bring the total up to a point where it will equal if not pass that of a year ago.

Farmers have shown their appreciation of the high prices received by their contributions to the Red Cross and their subscriptions for Liberty Bonds. They have done both in generous fashions and this is reflected in the Liberty Bond and Red Cross reports.

The inspectors report for the week is as follows:

Week ending April 18, 1918.

PRINCESS TODAY.

The screen production of "Magda," Herman Sudermann's great play, is a red letter event in motion picture history. Directed by Emile Shautart, the clever Frenchman whose successful productions have rapidly brought him to the front as one of the foremost directors in the country, and photographed by Jacques Viseu, one time official photographer of the Fine Arts Ministry, the mechanics of the feature have been well taken care of, and Clara Kimball Young's interpretation of the title role sets her among a notable company of world famous tragediennes.

"Magda" received its English premier back in 1895 in the famous Daly's Theatre in London, with no less a star than the Divine Sarah herself in the title role. London went mad over the play and Bernhardt for many years regarded it as one of her most successful impersonations. Later Eleonora Duse, the great Italian tragedienne played "Magda" in Italian, Daly's again being chosen for the initial production. Her success in the translation was followed later by an equal triumph when she rendered the play in its English version.

SEVENTH STREET FIRE.

Yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock the large frame house at 722 E. 7th street caught on fire. This house belongs to Mrs. Elsie V. Rawlins but is occupied by Mrs. G. H. Lloyd and family. Just how the blaze started is not thoroughly understood but it caught somewhere near the roof over the east side room occupied by Mrs. Lloyd. Mr. M. E. Lloyd was at home at the time but in bed sick. The fire was first discovered by some boys nearby and the fire alarm turned in. The fire department made a quick run and soon extinguished the fire but not until considerable damage was done by both fire and water. The only damage done to furniture and carpets was done by water. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

(By Ben King Harned.)

In chapel Monday morning Prof. Koffman gave the students a few of his opinions on German strategy since March 21. He said that the object of the Germans in their first terrific blow was not to get to Paris, but to bend the Allied line. If Paris had been captured it was not a place of military importance, except in lowering the morale of the people. Their real purpose was to bend the Allied line so that more men would be required to hold it. The extra men, in the German opinion, would be taken from the northern section of trenches thus weakening it. Then it was their intention to break through in Belgium, capture Calais and the railroads and stop the transportation of men and provisions. Prof. Koffman also said that if this had happened before the Allied armies had been put under one head the Germans would have succeeded. But the power of a United command was too strong for them. Instead of taking men from the northern sector to hold the bend made by the Germans, men were taken from other places thus leaving the Belgian trenches at their usual strength. He also pointed to the fact that if the German arms grow too powerful the same power that stopped them at the beginning of the war would repulse them again.

All of the teachers have been pushing the war stamp organizations and cards with the pledges have been given to nearly every pupil in school. The sale of thrift stamps was greatly increased last week.

On Tuesday a class 46 girls was organized to make bandages for the soldiers and clothes for the Belgian orphans. The sewing department has been placed at their disposal. They will meet on Tuesday and Thursday afternoon after school for their work. The material that they are to use will be mostly scraps from the Red Cross room of the city. This organization certainly shows a commendable spirit in these girls who are willing to sacrifice some of their leisure hours for their brothers across the sea.

On Monday 10 game tables which had been made by the boys in the manual training department were sent to Camp Sheridan, Alabama. They were made from yellow pine which was later carefully varnished. Two checker boards finished in red and black and bordered with gold were painted on each table.

On Thursday morning subscriptions were taken for the High School annual. Walter Neblett is the editor in chief and with his efficient staff we may be assured that it will be large and complete in all details. One hundred and fifty students subscribed.

(By International News Service.)
Cleveland, Ohio, April 19.—Public school children here above the fourth grade are now studying a special "liberty course," the new line of study to continue through three weeks. The lessons, which will be given during the course of study will deal with the history of America, lending particular emphasis to the progress of liberty in this country, showing how it has been fostered in all of America's wars and through periods of peace, and ending with a thorough understanding of the causes that forced the United States to enter the war. A part of the course will also deal with Germany's form of government at home and with her foreign policy.

CHURCH HILL RED CROSS

MADE A HANDSOME SUM AT GRANGE SALE YESTERDAY.

J. M. Adams & Son, who usually conduct a refreshment stand at the Grange Sale turned it over this year to the Church Hill Red Cross and the entire proceeds were $141.31. A part of this fund was derived from five pounds of home made candy donated by ladies and sold several times by the auctioneer, Col. Lyleheart, until $40 had been realized. Also it included $35 donated by Tom C. Jones, being one-fifth of the price received for a steer sold for $175. The rest of the total sum was taken in at the refreshment stand on the grounds. The Church Hill Red Cross unit made a considerable sum of money last month by putting on a home talent show that gave entertainments at Church Hill and Howell.
